MACRON ASSUMES STRIKES IN SYRIA IN THE NAME OF INTERNATIONAL HUMANITARIAN RIGHT

TO DESTROY THE CHEMICAL WEAPONS SITES

Paris, Washington DC, 16.04.2018, 01:23 Time

USPA NEWS - Following attacks using chemical weapons, the majority of United Nations Security Council, which are France, the USA, and UK decided to respond to having crossed the red line, according to the resolution the regime understood that it was testing the global threshold for tolerance. We publish the press statement of the Elysee (French Presidency) following to this Military response. The French President Macron said today in an exclusive TV interview led by Edwy Plenel Founder of Mediapart and Jean Jacques Bourdin, anchor at RMC, BFMTV (Belongs to NextRadio Group) that he is "determined and that the intervention was a success because the sites of chemical production have been destroyed without any collateral damages". This is an act of response because the behaviour have been crossed he threshold of tolerance. "

Thus, a new format of interview was invented and just born in France between the President submitting to the interviewers among the best in the French media, having asked questions frank, hard, those who are annoying and uncomfortable arousing clear and genuine responses and courageously assumed by the interviewee. This is unheard of in France, so far accustomed to smooth interviews and even complacent journalists against the head of state. Today this interview will mark the story in this originally transparent interview.-----

A format "Interview CASH at the Macron" of the anniversary of mandate, is an unprecedented exercise and new way "battle", without any care, exchanges tense oblige. This made it possible to make a review of one year of mandate, but the President has assumed all the decisions already taken for a year, and remained constant in his choice of reform, and this despite the discontent of the unhappy French who protest in the streets for three weeks already (pensions, students, SNCF, civil servants, lawyers). The President has decided and announced that he will not change his position.

President Macron has decided and announced that he will not change his position of an inch.
