The timing could not be more perfect, as Francois de Rugy was planned to having an appearance after the weekly Council of Ministers, (Each Wednesday at 10am, Elysee, under the Presidency of President Emmanuel Macron). Francois De Rugy came along with Brune Poirson (Secretary of Ecology) and Sibeth Ndiaye, Spokesperson of the French government, at the Elysee, press conference, held after the Council of Ministers.-----

Environment and Energy Transition Minister, who happens to be the second most important Minister at the highest level of politician position in France, answered to the journalists on Wednesday, regarding the Lobsters Dinners, and the allegations of « Public expenses for the sake of private dinners at Hotel de Lassay » (Residency of French President's Parliament's ) of Mediapart, and said " I understand that the French may be intrigued or have questions about" the spending, but he "totally stands by" having organized "a dozen informal dinners" with "guests of civil society," saying they helped inform his work as president. He said there were "no dinners with friends." As far as as the expensive wines are seeking an explanation Francois de Rugy answered « The expensive wines were already existing in the usual stock of bottles in the parliament's cellar, where bottles are aged and therefore appreciate in value" »-----

Environment and Energy Transition, De Rugy also insisted on his own beliefs, and justified his own genuine transparent attitude while President of the French Parliament, « I reduced the budget for entertaining guests by 13 percent when I was president of the French Parliament » This justification worsen the situation as, Francois de Rugy, is not implementing to himself what he is demanding from the MP's as far as the expenses paid by the Public Funds "I assume full responsibility for the fact that a parliament speaker or a minister should be able to hold informal meetings over dinner with business leaders, cultural figureheads and university deans."MEDIAPART reported that Francois de Rugy spent €63,000 on renovations in the state-owned apartment he moved into when he became environment minister in June 2018. All this « events » and « allegations » put together, and other allegations published by MEDIAPART, considered to the most serious journal of investigation, and renowned for being accurately documented and full of genuine sources, have created a great controversy throughout the internet and via the social networks.

SIBETH NDIAYE SPOKESWOMAN BACKED THE MINISTER DE RUGY AND SIAD HE RETAINS SUPPORT FROM PDT MACRON & THE PM

The spokeswoman Sibeth Ndiaye. said that The President Macron and his PM Edouard Philippe are « standing by their minister Francois de Rugy » « The minister ... evidently retains the trust of the president and the prime minister ... it's important that high-level politicians are able to have these ties with civil society under various forms, including in informal dinners ... of course with a lot of transparency and in a measured fashion," Sibeth Ndiaye said.-----

At the same time, Six sovereign wealth funds together weighing more than 3,000 billion dollars (Norway, New Zealand, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, United Arab Emirates), gathered Friday by Emmanuel Macron, have decided to commit to the fight against climate change, announced the Elysee. In a charter to be presented Friday evening at the Elysee Palace, these heavyweights in global finance, fueled mainly by oil and gas revenues in their country, undertake to encourage the companies in which they invest to integrate the risk of oil. climate change and present public data on their low carbon strategy.

The six sovereign, to finance the Climate Plan, through their sovereign Funds who signed up, last year, their joint commitment is part of the "One Planet Summit" of December 12, initiated by President Macron, over his motto « Make the Planet Great again », which aimed to mobilize the private sector for the climate, and especially the financial sector.

The six sovereign, were invited at Elysee Palace the same afternoon of the controversy over Lobster's affair, of De Rugy. Brune Poirson, and Bruno Le Maire French Minister of Economy did the job, by welcoming the six sovereign funds leaders who came at Elysee Palace and made their announcements in the courtyard of the Palace. Minister of Environment Francois de Rugy was not here.

Nevertheless, De Rugy justifies the luxury dinners with the « happy few » from his wife's close circle, to be a reason for « being more in touch with the ordinary ». Yet this is exactly what has choked the French citizen, and created a large converse expressed throughout internet, and pushed up by the media. For the records, Francois de Rugy has been the Right hand of the Mayor of Nantes (Socialist Left Wing) and has started up his politic career via his activism in ecology, defending climate causes, before join gin lately Emmanuel Macron's party LREM (« La Republique en Marche » The Republic is marching »), after his bid for the presidency during the campaign of 2017.-----

The most essential question that remains, now, is regarding the resignation fo Francois de Rugy, who was appointed lately, when Nicolas Hulot (Also Famous Environmental activist, and Chairman of his Foundation Hulot) his predecessor, resigned, in 2018, arguing that the actual government does not give hime liberty to tackling climate change as it should be".
