Paris, Washington DC, 16.05.2021, 00:14 Time

USPA NEWS - A 17-year-old teenager was stabbed to death on Friday in Ivry-sur-Seine (Val-de-Marne), according to the Créteil prosecutor and police sources. The facts took place in a street in the city of Pierre-et-Marie-Curie, Friday May 14 at the end of the afternoon. The 15-year-old perpetrator, who fled, was arrested in Massy, ??a town about fifteen kilometers from Ivry-sur-Seine, south of Paris, the prosecution said. The homicide is linked to a rivalry born on social media, according to one of the police sources. The judicial police of Val-de-Marne are in charge of the investigation. The mayor of Ivry-sur-Seine, Philippe Bouyssou, told Agence France-Presse that the victim "wanted to attempt mediation between the young man who had violently attacked the teenager's little sister on social networks". "I am deeply sad and shocked that this kind of confusion can lead to such a tragedy," he added, explaining that he sent "all his support" to the mother of the victim. Source: Le Monde, AFP

URBAN VIOLENCE ESCALATES IN FRANCE INVOLVING YOUNGER FIGHTERS-----France is more and more struck by urban violence (Ex case Yuri a 16 year old molested in January ended up in the coma, Alisha, a 14-year-old college student, was severely beaten and then thrown into the Seine during a dispute with two of her classmates) In early March, two groups of young people from two districts of Champigny-sur-Marne (Val-de-Marne) clashed in the street with knives and fists, leaving two seriously injured. Four minors were indicted on April 15 for attempted murder, complicity and aggravated violence. Domestic violence is also escalating, including femicide (The murder of the spouse, or female companion), and by rather barbaric acts and whose aggressors are often repeat offenders, released by the courts (Example Chahinez Case) or even not at all judges by justice (Example Sarah Halimi Case). It has been several months since the various facts, brawls between rival gangs, in the Parisian suburbs traditionally known for their insecurity and the impoverishment of its population. However, it has been observed for several months, even before the first confinement of March 2020, linked to health measures of COVID-19), that acts of violence with serious consequences (death of actresses of the victims), occupy the media space in France. In fact, one month from the next regional elections and one year from the next presidential elections in France, a climate of tension reigns, and especially concern on the part of citizens who say they are increasingly insecure. Polls, recent, like that of IFOP, of April 27, 2021, "Security" is considered "very priority" with 72% (up 4 points) and 70% (stable) of the French, even ahead of the fight against unemployment (68%) and the fight against insecurity despite the looming economic crisis (62%). As for justice, the French are according to the CSA CNews survey carried out on May 27, 2021, they are 81% to think that justice in France is too lax. On the political side the Minister of Justice Eric Dupond Moretti, who had to receive the police unions, (the day before) which themselves require more material and legislative means and protection to safeguard their lives, it is not of agree with this opinion of "lax justice" and responds with figures: There has been "an increase in the number of firm prison sentences (132,000 sentences handed down in 2019 against 120,000 in 2015), the French are therefore far from being convinced. Among them, the youngest are those most pointing out the lack of severity of justice, with 83% of 18-24 year olds and 88% of 25-34 year olds. Source: Afp, Le Monde.
