USPA NEWS - Corinne Lepage is a French lawyer ecologist, founder of the group CAP21, and former minister of ecology. By an engagement letter dated June 4, 2015, she was asked by the President of the Republic to make recommendations at COP 21 for a new stage in the field of human rights.

Corinne Lepage is a French lawyer ecologist, founder of the group CAP21, and former minister of ecology. She

A working group, composed of international law experts and environmental law, climate, a representative of the association of former environment ministers, and representatives of NGOs, proposed to the President of the Republic a draft universal declaration of the rights of humanity. This statement, which includes four principles, six and six rights obligations, follows the descent of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights proclaimed in Paris in 1948, and a continuation of several previous agreements and statements regarding the development, the environment and future generations.

THE REPORT IS IN PREAMBLE OF COP21 AND UN-70 TH ASSEMBLY GENERAL

The report submitted to the President of the Republic contains the inventory of existing texts relating to the declaration, the Global and explanatory section by section of the statement, then the possible procedures for the adoption of this text, and the state of many citizen initiatives already underway as part of the preparations for the COP 21. Following the publication of this report, a broad consultation will be conducted and a side event on the subject will be held during the COP21.
